

Maryland, that permits school resource officers and school security employees to receive approved local training. The public did not expect that change to be made and the change corrects the mistake in bracketing.

“A change that merely conveys a requirement already specified by statute does not require reproposal since public comment could have no effect.” 75 Opinions of the Attorney General 27 (1990) citing Vega v. National Union Fire Ins. Co., 682 P.2d 73, 77 n.9 (Haw. 1984). This change would simply leave language that already exists in the regulation and aligns with the statute. This change has no effect on the administrative burden on school resource officers or school security employees nor does it reduce the benefits of the regulation.
